

Meet the knitters at Emerson High School . . .

Emerson High School is an award-winning alternative school in Oklahoma City. Randa Pirrong, Emerson's Family and Consumer Science educator taught her students to knit. Working in conjunction with St. Luke's United Methodist Church, Randa and her students knit for community service projects such as Susan G. Komen's Knit for the Cure. What started as a simple service project set off a knitting craze among the Emerson student body.

Sealed With a Kiss has selected the knitters of Emerson High School as our featured charity. This program is a wonderful example of how knitting can improve the lives of others, by building self-esteem, instilling pride, and creating a sense of belonging for these at-risk kids. What we liked best about this program is that it not only helps mentor these young students, but that it also gives back to a broader community through the charitable works of the students.

Pass it on . . . what a great way to pass on your love of knitting! How can you help? The students need supplies - we will gladly accept any donations of yarn & supplies on behalf of the program.
